  - e) support staff for External Solicitors, barristers, Experts and any mediators or

4 Subject to any order of the Court, the Disclosing Party agrees to keep confidential and not disclose the identity of any person who has executed an undertaking in the form of Annexure A.

5 Any Confidential Document will:

- a) in the case of any electronic documents, be electronically secured so that access is limited to Authorised Persons in accordance with this Confidentiality Regime; and
- b) in the case of any hard copy document, be stored securely in accordance with order 8(b) of this Confidentiality Regime.

6 Except with the prior written consent of the Disclosing Party, Confidential Documents and the Confidential Information produced pursuant to order 1 will not be used or disclosed other than in accordance with this Confidentiality Regime.

7 Authorised Persons will not disclose the Confidential Documents or the Confidential Information to any person other than the Court or an Authorised Person who has executed an undertaking in the form of Annexure A, except as by Order of the Court.

8 The Authorised Persons must:

- a) maintain the confidential nature of the Confidential Documents and the Confidential Information, and in particular, not use, disclose or divulge the Confidential Documents or the Confidential Information other than in accordance with the terms of this Confidentiality Regime; and
- b) establish and maintain effective measures to safeguard the Confidential Documents and the Confidential Information from unauthorised access, use, copying or disclosure.

9 If any Confidential Information or Confidential Document is to be placed before the Court, whether by way of exhibit (e.g., to an affidavit) or by tender or otherwise, then prior to doing so, the Authorised Person will take all reasonable steps to request that the Court make an order preserving the confidentiality of the document or information to the effect that:

- a) the Confidential Documents or Confidential Information to be used or disclosed be dealt with on a confidential basis, consistent with the terms of this Confidentiality Regime; and

- b) any further use or disclosure of the Confidential Documents or Confidential Information by the Court be limited to communications between the Court and the Authorised Persons.
- 10 Nothing in this Confidentiality Regime will prevent an Authorised Person from preparing an Expert report for use in the Proceedings which annexes or contains Confidential Documents or Confidential Information.
- 11 Nothing in this Confidentiality Regime requires an Authorised Person to take any steps which would limit the evidence that is brought on behalf of a party to the Takata Proceedings.
- 12 Subject to order 13, within 21 days after either any settlement or final conclusion of the Proceedings or any appeal thereof, or expiry of the period within which any judgment made in the Proceedings may be appealed (whichever is the latter), each Authorised Person must, upon receipt of a written request from the Disclosing Party and unless otherwise required by law, take reasonable steps to:
- (a) ensure any electronic copies of the Confidential Documents or Confidential Information (including from document management systems and document management databases); and (b) destroy or return to the Disclosing Party all hard copies of any Confidential Documents or Confidential Information.
- 13 Each Authorised Person may retain a copy of any Confidential Document as part of their client file arising from the conduct of the Takata Proceedings solely for internal document retention purposes. This copy will be kept secure and otherwise subject to this Confidentiality Regime.

- 15 The restrictions in this undertaking shall not apply if, and to the extent that, the Confidential Documents or the Confidential Information are in, or enter, the public domain, other than as a breach of this Confidentiality Regime.
- 16 For the sole purpose of the Takata Proceedings, barristers engaged to represent or advise a party in the Takata Proceedings may access the Confidential Documents, without the requirement to execute an undertaking, on the terms set out in orders 5,
